CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

15 April 1958

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief of Army Reserve and ROTC Matters
Department of the Army, Washington 25, D.C.

SUBJECT: [REDACTED]

REFERENCE: Army Regulation 140-305, Army Reserve, dated 18 December 1956.

1. Authority is requested to make use of selected formal training programs conducted by the Central Intelligence Agency for Reserve Officer Mobilization Designees assigned to [REDACTED]

2. In accordance with the provisions of paragraph 40. AR 140-305 active duty training for officers assigned to [REDACTED] has been varied and to the extent possible has been directed toward maintaining the proficiency of the designee in his mobilization assignment. This active duty training has included two-week periods of training with appropriate General Staff sections, Department of the Army; attendance at Branch Schools as appropriate; attendance at Special Forces Schools, Fort Bragg, North Carolina; and enrollment in the two-week courses in Communist Strategy offered by the Foreign Service Institute, Department of State. The majority of the reserve officers assigned to [REDACTED] carry an MI Branch designation.

3. In accordance with the provisions of a Top Secret Command Relationship Agreement established by the Director of Central Intelligence and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Central Intelligence Agency in time of war will provide direct support to military operations in the fields of unconventional warfare. With the exception of the training provided by the Psychological Warfare Training Center at Fort Bragg, there is no military training specifically designed to prepare an MI reserve officer for the type of duty to be performed by military personnel serving with the Central Intelligence Agency in a time of war.

4. The Central Intelligence Agency has established the following courses which have a direct relationship to the duties to be performed by military personnel who are to serve with the Agency in wartime. These courses are at present used to train a very limited number of civilian employees of the Agency and a few of the regular officers engaged in peacetime planning for wartime activities. The following courses are not mandatory for Agency personnel, and a recent survey revealed that less than one-half of 1 percent of Agency employees holding active reserve commissions have been enrolled in the courses identified below.

5. Courses.

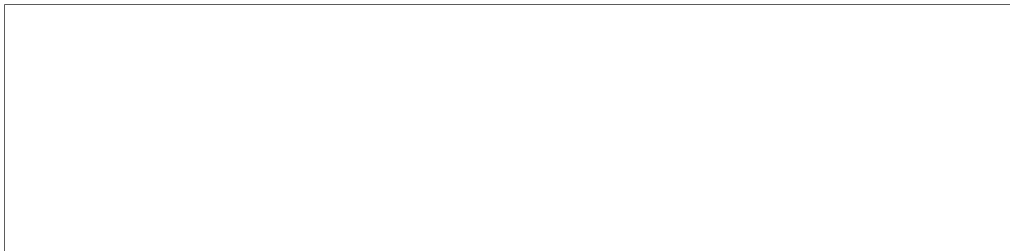

- (a) War Plans Courses. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the Agency's wartime planning system, the established relationships between the military services and the Central Intelligence Agency, and the operational and support considerations inherent in the Agency's wartime role.

- (c) Communist Party Operations. This course provides instruction concerning the organization of the Soviet and international Communist Parties with particular emphasis on the Soviet and Satellite intelligence services.

6. While each of the courses identified above are presently longer than two weeks' duration, it has been determined that a modified version of these courses can be offered to accomodate the two-week active duty period.

7. In response to a request from the Chief, Special Warfare, Department of the Army, Selected officers from the Unconventional Warfare Division who have received Top Secret clearance are to be given an orientation by CIA in each of the subjects referred to above. Officers from each of the services selected by the Joint Subsidiary Activities Division, JCS, will be provided on an annual basis a two-week orientation concerning the Agency's capabilities to provide direct support to military operations in time of war. 25X1 program includes selected topics relating to the subjects identified above. Further, in response to a request from the United States Air Force, a special training program of ten days' duration is to be presented to selected officers in the field [redacted] These facts are offered in support of the statement that each of the subject courses have a direct relationship to the mobilization responsibilities of CIA and the reserve officers assigned to [redacted]
